

SEARCHLIGHTS AND SUNGLASSES

LEARNING LAYER

Further reading on chapter two topics

Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication.

Journalism & Mass Communication Educator: June 2013, 68 (2)Vol. 68. Sage Journals, 2013. Print.

Deuze, Mark. Media Life. Malden: Polity Press, 2012. Print.

Downie, Leonard, and Michael Schudson . “The Reconstruction of American Journalism.” Columbia Journalism Review. (2009): n. pag. Web. July 2013. http://www.cjr.org/reconstruction/the_reconstruction_of_american.php Dvorack, Jack, Larry Lain, Tom Dickson. Journalism Kids Do Better: What Research Tells Us about High School Journalism. Bloomington: ERIC Clearinghouse on Reading, 1994. Print.

Falk, Erika. Becoming a New Instructor: A Guide for College Adjuncts and Graduate Students. New York: Routledge, 2012. Print

Gant, Scott. We’re All Journalists Now: The Transformation of the Press and Reshaping of the Law in the Internet Age. New York: Free Press, 2007. Print.

Gibbs, Cheryl, and Tom Warhover. Getting the Whole Story: Reporting and Writing the News.1st ed. New York: The Guilford Press, 2002. Print.

Hall, Homer L., Logan H. Aimone. High School Journalism. rev. ed. New York: Rosen Publishing Group, 2009. Print.

John S. and James L. Knight Foundation. Newsroom Training: Where’s the Investment?: A Study for the Council of National Journalism Organizations. Miami: John S. and James L. Knight Foundation, 2012. Print.

Lynch, Dianne. “Above and Beyond: Looking at the Future of Journalism Education.” John S. and James L. Knight Foundation, 2015, on line.

http://www.knightfoundation.org/media/uploads/publication_pdfs/KF-Above-

and-Beyond-Report.pdf

McChesney. Robert W. Digital Disconnect: How Capitalism is Turning the Internet Against Democracy. New York: The New Press, 2013. Print.

Meltzer, Kimberly. TV News Anchors and Journalistic Tradition: How Journalist Adapt to Technology. New York: Peter Lang, 2010. Print.

Moran, Joe. Interdisciplinarity. New York: Routledge, 2002. Print.

News University. Tools for Educators. Poynter Institute. Web. July, 2013.
<https://www.newsu.org/tools>

Pavlik, John V. Journalism and New Media. New York: Columbia University Press, 2001. Print.

Rogers, Everett M. A History of Communication Study: A Biographical Approach. Free Press: New York, 1997. Print.

Rogers, Everett M. Diffusion of Innovations. New York, NY: Free press, 2010. Print.

Ryfe, David M. Can Journalism Survive?: An Inside Look at American Newsrooms. Malden: Polity Press, 2012. Print.

Schubert, Bjoern. American Journalism after 'The Age of Mechanical Reproduction': The Transition from Print to the Digital Age and its Cultural Implications. Norderstedt: GRIN Verlag, 2010. Print.

Shorenstein Center. A Report on the Carnegie-Knight Initiative on the Future of Journalism Education. Harvard University Kennedy School Joan Shorenstein Center on the Press Politics and Public Policy: Cambridge, 2011. Print.

Tate, C. Dow, Sherri A. Taylor. Scholastic Journalism. 12 ed. Hoboken: John Wiley & Sons, 2013. Print.

Weaver, David H., Randal A. Beam, Bonnie J. Brownlee, Paul S. Voakes, G. Cleveland Wilhoit. The American Journalist in the 21st Century: U.S. News People at the Dawn of a New Millennium. Mahwah: Lawrence Erlbaum Associates, Inc., 2007. Print.